

External Certificates & Mandatory Training Guide

What Opus Care should track rather than self-certify

Suggested training type: Read + mini quiz Suggested pass mark: 80% Review/validity: review annually; external credentials use actual expiry date

This module is a compliance guide, not a substitute for any external qualification, clearance, practical assessment or official NDIS Commission course.

Learning objectives

- Separate internal awareness training from external qualifications and official NDIS learning.
- Know which evidence belongs in the staff compliance record.
- Understand expiry and renewal tracking.
- Avoid presenting internal certificates as accredited qualifications.

1. Official NDIS Commission learning

- Worker Orientation Module: Quality, Safety and You - complete on the NDIS Commission learning portal and upload the official certificate.
- New Worker NDIS Induction - eight modules covering disability awareness, privacy/confidentiality, safe workplace, Code of Conduct and dignity of risk, incident management, knowing the person, risk management and challenging situations.
- Supporting Effective Communication - official external module.
- Supporting Safe and Enjoyable Meals - official external module where relevant to role/support.

2. NSW safeguarding learning

The NSW Ageing and Disability Commission offers free training on recognising and responding to abuse, neglect and exploitation. Completion certificates can be downloaded and can be tracked by Opus Care.

3. Credentials to verify and track

- NDIS Worker Screening clearance where required or adopted by company policy.
- First Aid certificate.
- CPR certificate.
- Driver licence and vehicle/insurance evidence where driving is part of the role.
- Role-specific manual handling/participant handling training and practical competency where required.
- Any role-specific medication, mealtime, behaviour support, high-intensity or clinical competency required for the supports delivered.

4. Expiry workflow

For every expiring credential, store issuer, certificate number where appropriate, issue date, expiry date, uploaded evidence and verification status. Flag at 30 days, 7 days and expiry. An expired credential should trigger a manager review before shifts requiring that credential are assigned.

5. Internal certificates

Opus Care can issue an internal certificate for its own induction, policy acknowledgement and knowledge modules. It should clearly say 'Internal Training Certificate - Not a nationally accredited qualification'. Do not create an Opus Care certificate that looks like an NDIS Commission, First Aid, Registered Training Organisation or professional qualification.
